Well-known actor Anupam Kher has been crusading all over in east coast to share the pain of 26/11 which has been wonderfully captured in recently released Hollywood film, Hotel Mumbai. Kher has been key in promoting the film through screenings in various places during the limited release in New York and LA. In a packed Museum of Modern Art private premiere, HOTEL MUMBAI saw all the leading stars walk the red carpet. The event attracted top dignitaries and creme de la creme from New York. About two hour long, Hotel Mumbai is based on 26/11 attack on landmark hotel Taj Mahal in South Mumbai.

On 26/11, the terrorists came from Pakistan and killed hundreds in various locations in city and finally attacked the hotel. In a battle that lasted about three days, the Master Chef played a leading role to help the guests save their lives. Anupam Kher plays the role and does full justice. "I did not meet him and prepared on my own. It would have been painful to ask him about his experience," said Anupam Kher. "This is my 501st film and a landmark. It was a unique experience of working in Australia where the film was shot and actors came from all over the world."

Anupam Kher is in New York filming the television series "Amsterdam" that has made him a household name as Dr Kapoor. He joined IAAC private screening at Angelika on Sunday with a sold out show by the organization in New York. Mr Kher did a QA session with audience that was stunned after the screening. He was at TV Asia Studios during the week on popular show FOCUS LIVE with Vikas Nangia.

The film opens worldwide on March 29th and has set high expectations for audiences. The world around has suffered from terrorism and film presents the pain caused by the merciless terrorists.
